

Philippe Bornard

Le Ginglet 2009

Arbois Pupillin AOC

Wine	Philippe Bornard Arbois Pupillin Trousseau Le Ginglet 2009
Winemaker	Philippe Bornard
Appellation	Arbois Pupillin AOC
Location	Philippe Bornard is based in the tiny village of Pupillin which is quite close to the Swiss border in the eastern part of France.
Cuvée	Le Ginglet
Red/White/Rose	Red
Year	2009
Grape varieties	This wine is made from 100% Trousseau, a grape that is local to the Jura region.
Alcohol	13%
Viticulture	Philippe Bornard uses biodynamic methods in managing his vineyards so no chemicals, poisons or artificial fertilizers are used.
Terroir	The vineyards around Pupillin are very high so the grapes ripen slowly.
Wine-making	Philippe's wines are made naturally without the use of industrial yeasts, enzymes or other additives. He allows the grapes to ferment using the yeasts that are on the fruit and in the winery (which is under his house in ancient cellars).

Notes

This light, lively, red wine made from the Trousseau grape is as easy to drink as the Le Ginglet tag suggests. However this is not to say that it is a simple wine - there is quite a lot happening in the glass. You can discern the influence of the limestone soils in this wine and there is a hint of spice on the finish making it perfect as a food wine. This is a delightful example of what can be achieved with this delicate, little-known grape variety.
